

Basic Information

“Relaciones” is a biannual journal edited by the Argentine Society of Anthropology (SAA) dedicated to publishing unpublished articles, notes and comments based on research that provide original information about the various specialties of Anthropology (Archeology, Sociocultural Anthropology, Bioanthropology, Ethnohistory, Linguistics and Disciplines), which provide relevant and useful conclusions for the scientific community. The journal has three main sections: synthesis articles, results of several years of research on theoretical and / or methodological topics with a high degree of progress in the main thematic areas of anthropology, archeology, ethnohistory, folklore and biological anthropology. The NOTES should be oriented to brief presentation of problems or findings relevance for the discussion of general topics. According to that, it is sought that Relations present complete panoramas of the current research topics in the country that are useful to the local and international public. The NOTES on specific topics will be considered of the same hierarchy as the articles and sent to evaluate as the previous ones. COMMENTS correct errors about previous publications, or provide new data considered important in relation to other works previously published in this journal. Also can be included thematic sections (which cannot occupy more than one-third of the journal), book reviews and/or symposia and obituaries. All of them will be requested in due time by the Editorial Committee.

Scope and policy

“Relaciones” magazine preferably publishes articles from the members of the Argentine Society of Anthropology (SAA) –without debts–, but also the Editorial Committee can request articles to specialists who are not members. Manuscripts submitted for publication by non-members must be accompanied by a non-refundable edition fee equal to two corporate fees. The evaluation of the manuscript will not begin without this requirement. In case that the manuscript exceeds the available space, the Editorial Committee and referendum of the Directive Commission reserves the right to select those works that can be published. According to do that, the standard rule is to guaranteed an equal representation of the diverse Anthropology specialties in the volume. Only one article can be submitted per person (as the first author or co-author). Once published, authors will only be able to submit a new paper after two numbers (one year).

“Relaciones” magazine adheres to the Budapest Initiative for Open Access (2002) because in that way "allows any user to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search or add a link to the full text of [their] articles, track them for their indexation, to incorporate them as data in a software, or to use them for any other purpose that is legal, without financial, legal or technical barriers, apart from those that are inseparable from the same access to the Internet " (<http://www.Budapestopenaccessinitiative.Org/translations/spanish-translation>).

To strengthen our open access policy, Relaciones magazine is published under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial 4.0 International (CC BY-NC 4.0) license, which allows you to share (copy and redistribute material in any medium or format) and adapt (remix, Transform and create from the material), under the condition that the corresponding credits are given and commercial use of the materials (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/deed.es>).

Subscription

Those interested in purchasing the magazine can contact us to our e-mail address: sociedadargentinaantropologia@gmail.com

Those members of the SAA without debts will receive the magazine for free. Despite of that, different copies of our journal are available through the inter-institutional exchange, and also can be found in specialized libraries in Argentina or in foreign countries.

The online SciELO version of complete title of the journal, prepared using a methodology developed by FAPESP/BIREME Project of Electronic Journals, and including the complete text of articles, is available for free.